

WHY?

Our intent was not just to start another rescue group but rather create a group designed to work alongside individuals, local rescue groups, animal shelters and other organizations to help preserve and care for all animals - whether domestic or wildlife.

From the fight to put an end to the gruesome annual Canadian Harp Seal slaughter, to finding homes for abandoned and abused cats, dogs, and other animals, it is a never ending effort.

Animals First Foundation believes that all animal life has a place in this world and should be respected and allowed to just "BE."

VOLUNTEERING

Non-profit groups, such as AFF, rely on the hard work and dedication of their volunteers. Whether it's just for an afternoon, or on a regular basis, the time you give as a Volunteer is very much needed and truly appreciated.

The animals are exposed to new faces, given playtime, get socialized and make new friends. Volunteers help prepare them in starting a new life.

It is also a great learning opportunity. We work with various trainers on a case by case basis to help assess and pass on proper and humane methods of handling, training and maintenance to better insure the future well being of our rescues.

If you have a love for animals, a little patience, and don't mind getting dirty - we want to hear from you!

ADOPTING

Rescue animals come to us from all situations. Many times their owners weren't prepared for the lifelong responsibility of having a pet.

AFF has taken on the job of rescuing and caring for the animals that others have abandoned. These animals deserve another chance and can make a wonderful addition to a household.

Our goal is to place our animals in "forever homes" so that they never end up un-wanted and homeless again. All of our animals are given the best medical attention; they are spayed or neutered, and micro-chipped.

All potential adoptees must fill out an application, provide references, and allow a home check.

The Adoption form is on our web site:

Those involved with Animals First Foundation understand that all animal life has a place in this world and have a duty to protect and preserve it.

FOSTERING

Fostering is a very important part of our rescue efforts. Open your home and heart to a dog or cat in need of a safe place to transition to their forever, loving home.

You don't have to be an "expert" on animals to be a foster care provider. There are no out-of-pocket costs to providing foster care. AFF provides the food and covers medical costs. You are asked to give your care, love and time in a nurturing and safe environment. Each animal's situation will be unique. The length of time an animal will spend in foster care will vary based upon that animal's age, condition and ability to heal.

It takes special people to foster. Fosters play a key role in helping the animal(s) learn how to feel loved, confident and secure – some for the first time in their lives.

To the animal that benefits, it means a LIFETIME.
